The Art Of Enhanced Mind\Body Communications

By: Christopher V. Guerriero
Author of the best selling book Maximize Your Metabolism

About the Author:

Christopher Guerriero was formally schooled in Nutrition from the University of Dayton (Ohio). He has spent more than 15 years studying people who have successfully mastered their metabolism.

“I wanted to know what set them apart from the rest—and exactly what it was that they did that made them so successful—while their neighbors failed to obtain comparable results, regardless of how hard they seemed to diet and exercise.”

“I was driven by the notion that millions of people would benefit from this information if it could be distilled into a practical, easy-to-follow guide that systematized the secrets for success.”

*“When I use the term secrets here, I simply mean the tactics that only the few successful people were regularly using...
...the same tactics that the unsuccessful people seem to consistently skip over. My books and my reports share the truth about how to instantly and permanently develop a strong metabolism, vital health, and tremendous energy.”*

“The 2 Day Workout”

How to cut your workout time in half...
...While doubling the results you get!

This manual was designed to give you the exact blueprints necessary to get great results in only 2 workouts per week! THIS IS NOT A MISPRINT! You will get great results if you follow this exercise routine only 2 days per week, and each workout will only last about 1 hour.

The 2 day workout was created for people who either do not have the time to devote 4 to 6 days per week to a hard-core work out or for those who have tried working out in the past but keep getting discouraged because they feel like they're putting in a lot of time and effort with few rewards or results.

This success manual was written in an easy to understand fashion so that just about anyone can understand what we mean when we call out an exercise name or when we refer to something like reps and sets.

The Art Of Enhanced Mind\Body Communications

By: Christopher V. Guerriero
Author of the best selling book Maximize Your Metabolism

The art of conditioning the mind for peak performance is a delicate balance of BOTH mental and physical conditioning.

Unfortunately, we meet people every day who live in lack because this balance is not obtained.

No one can have ultimate love in their life, or financial freedom, or true spiritual comfort without the proper physical conditioning

"To really enjoy everything that life has to offer we have to optimize both our physical and our mental being"

Just imagine what your life could be like once this balance is obtained...

Properly condition the body but not the mind? How can the body function at it's true potential without a strong governing force telling it what to do and what not to do. As a child, we learned the hard way not to touch a hot stove, or walk on hot pavement with bare feet, but as adults we now have the power to condition ourselves in a much more civilized way. So then, why is it that we still opt to learn everything the hard way? Well, with the help of research professionals, we have come up with the answer. As simple as it may sound, the answer is that we just are not aware of the great conditioning power of the human mind. Tapping that power has proved to make a genius out of an otherwise thought of imbecile, power lifters out of weaklings, healthy vibrant people out of clinically bedridden patients, productive citizens out of mentally handicapped, and the list goes on.

...Every aspect of life is better, from your physical and mental energy – to your financial freedom – each part of your life will be fulfilled once you have experienced true balance.

Learn how to maximize your potential, learn how to experience true vibrance and energy, both physically and mentally, learn how to attract all of your goals by putting yourself into the correct physical vibration...

Your thoughts, attitudes and emotions can make you sick, or they can make you well! The human mind is so incredible that it has recently proved the most effective cure and/or treatment for such cases as: depression, chronic fatigue, headaches, obesity, smoking, stress reduction, cholesterol reduction, and the healing of pain and injuries. As a matter of fact, with a few simple techniques and some self training, these results can be instantly produced.

As you study this brief synopsis, bear in mind that relaxation is the first step in all of these exercises. Therefore, you may find it beneficial to first read through this article thoroughly, then proceed with the exercises at a more convenient time when you are alone and will be undisturbed for a good three to five minutes (at least until you have mastered the exercises). Cyberphysiology is the communication that you could and should have with your body. This communication is only possible when your mind is in the alpha (relaxed) state.

Learn all of this - and far more in a book called Maximize Your Metabolism.

This book is not a spiritual enlightenment book, nor is it a book on building balance in your life...

This book is a one of a kind masterpiece that can help you train yourself through simple mental, physical, and dietary changes that can greatly improve your health, your energy level, and your metabolic rate.

Written by best-selling author Christopher Guerriero, this book has helped thousands to reach their goals through state-of-the-art mental and physical conditioning techniques.

While in this state, you will make conversation with any ailing parts of your body and gently thank them for such good service in the past and ask them to relax and align themselves, making any corrections necessary to return to their normal operating level. After this is accomplished, you imagine all parts of your body performing in accordance with their specific function and bid them good-bye. This process, although sounding simplistic and "earthy" has earned a great deal of respect recently in the medical field.

Let's begin our journey with the immune system. Your immune system is the controller of disease, it is constantly at war with any and all impurities that you come in contact with during the day. It has a very strong link with your mind. Your mind, although already very powerful, only has a basic set of commands that are initially imbedded and ready to be accessed, think of it as a new computer that you buy with a only few basic programs already installed, do you settle for those few programs or do you constantly upgrade your computer with new games etc. So then, why should you settle for leaving your mind on auto pilot with only a few basic commands already installed. Take control of your immune system by telling it exactly what you want it to do. You will be amazed at the response you will get.

- First, sit or lie in a relaxed position, make sure all clothes are loose fitting or at least not cutting off any circulation.
- Second, slowly count backwards from 20 to 1 going deeper and feeling heavier and more relaxed on each count. When you have reached 1 your body will be totally relaxed.

Now you must relax your mind. This can be done by picturing a great tree in the center of a large open field. Vividly picture this tree and it's green leaves, then change those leaves to red, then orange, then yellow, then brown, then reverse the process, brown, yellow, orange and finally green. All the time taking the time to see and smell the changes in the leaves.

- Third, mentally say to yourself "my head and feet are stretching out in opposite direction gently stretching my spine and relaxing all of my vertebrae". Repeating the sentence until you feel your vertebrae separating and releasing any stored up tension in your spine. Now pretend that you can actually enter your own body through your head, passing through your skin and along the way encountering many friends such as: your bones, brain, eyes, nose, mouth, and your blood stream which you will ask to transport you throughout your system to meet each and every major contributor to your health. It will be easiest if instead of trying to picture each of these as they actually are, you simply assign each major component a representative with it's own color. For example, each of your "friends" could be a small one inch round object, your heart could be red, your liver and kidneys could be brown, and so on. It is perfectly OK if you use the same color for some or all of your "friends" as long as you know who they are when you meet them.

"I received a copy of this book in the mail early this morning, I began reading it and was unable to put it down until I had finished many hours later. The detail and the uniqueness of Christopher's approach to helping people amazed me. This book is ahead of its time. Although it was late when I finished reading it, I went to my computer and composed a heartfelt thank you to Christopher and an email to all of my personal clients telling them that this book is mandatory reading."

Enter your blood stream and glide through getting off every once and a while to greet and thank each major organ such as your heart, and lungs. Your final stop will be your immune system, some people find it easiest to picture a small test tube that is now half full. First greet your immune system and introduce yourself (since you have never actually been introduced before today), then picture yourself getting a large pitcher of magic healing water and pouring it into the test tube until it is over flowing. Again, thank your immune system and let it know that you will be back periodically to make sure that it stays full from now on. Get back into the blood stream ask it to take you back to your head, and as you are gently transported up your system wave good-bye to each of your organs, glands, etc. And when you reach your head thank your blood stream for a swift and safe trip, say good-bye to your bones and your brain. Then begin to mentally count up from 10 to 1 and resume your day feeling relaxed, refreshed and knowing that your immune system is now full and all other systems are working at their potential with each other to energize you throughout your day. This technique should only take 3 minutes or so, and should be followed at least once per day. As you can see it would be easy to make any part of your body the main focus by making a few simple changes at your last stop. Have fun, make this as religious as your workout and you will see great results.

One final exercise to instantly take away the pain of a headache is as follows. Relax as in the previous exercise, then picture your pain, know from where it is being generated, give it a shape, give it a size, give it a taste, and a smell, then lock it up in a jar and throw it away. Repeat this exercise until the pain ceases, which will probably only be one to three times.
